EDITORIAL

Was uns bewegt – one could translate this expression as what drives us. Yet no translation fully conveys the accuracy of the German word bewegt, which also means to move. Nothing could be more fitting when speaking of choreographic artists.

Over the years, we have observed that the work of choreographers and performers has become increasingly infused with emotion, at times even activist or political. The positive moments as well as the extreme challenges we are collectively facing today are reflected in choreographic works. In the first quarter of 2026, you will discover a wide range of artistic proposals – mirrors of life and of today's society.

Among the key events:

- 24 January: Néon by Yvann Alexandre, hosted in residency as part of the programme AU-TOUR DE... p. 4.
- 14 February – 1 March: the AWA Platform, bringing together workshops, masterclasses, creations and international performances pp. 8, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 34 et 35.
- 21 March: The Days by Ville Oinonen, accompanied by a workshop for dance enthusiasts aged 55 and over p. 12.
- 17 & 18 April: Les Émergences, come and discover Djamilia Polo and Serge Daniel Kaboré, two highly promising young choreographers p. 16.

And that's not all!

Also discover the residency showings from programme 3 du TROIS, allowing you to witness the birth of new creations pp. 6, 10, 14 et 18.

For non-professionals wishing to get involved, the MOVERS programme offers workshops, classes and opportunities to meet the international artists welcomed at the TROIS C-L pp. 20 à 29.

Let yourself be bewegt.

As part of the AU-TOUR DE ..., programme, the TROIS C-L is hosting Yvann Alexandre's new piece: N.éon. In this work, the choreographer creates a piece in which movement, reversals, and illusion are everything. No metaphor here: Charles d'Éon de Beaumont, known as the Chevalier d'Éon (1728–1810), also known as Charlotte, Chevalière d'Éon — diplomat, spy, or spywoman — one of the most enigmatic figures of the 18th century. Protean, N.éon reveals different spectres of human relationships. Between appearance and disappearance, intimacy and expansion, feminine and masculine, solitude and collective awareness, the performers play with false pretences, blur the tracks, subtly lay down their cards, and reveal a game. Light shifts in the blink of an eye, sonic ruptures arise in a breath. In perpetual motion, the piece transforms before our eyes, creating a space where our flaws become the most beautiful part of our shared humanity.

DANCE | The Luminous Violence of Perfection – Daniel Matos

Inspired by Pavane for a Dead Princesse by Maurice Ravel, the choreographer envisions an unbroken procession, a fleeting and intense choreography where each body fights against erasure. A work between ritual and revolt: a pavane for the 21st century.

DANCE | Memory of the Skin – Mateusz Szczerek

Mateusz Szczerek explores body modification through tattooing as an act of identity, a ritual of transformation, and a mirror of social stigmas. Blending personal poetry and Krump, he examines the marked body, chosen pain, and the quest for reconciliation with oneself. An introspective, physical, and visceral piece.

DANCE | MOTH – EDSUN

A multidisciplinary project combining music, dance, and theatre, MOTH explores communication and human relationships. This immersive work probes the complexity of communication when emotions — or the barriers created by ego or fear — take over.

EXHIBITION | BLACK WATER – Brian Ca

BLACK WATER presents a series of photographs by Brian Ca, capturing the movement of dance and water. Through these images, the artist freezes the ephemeral, exploring fluidity, loss, and imprint, capturing what, by nature, escapes any stable form.

DANCE | Satellites – Brian Ca

When humans confront their own technological creation: drones that become mirrors of humanity. Technology, solitude and the search for meaning intertwine in a poetic and captivating universe. Can the alliance between humans and machines open a new future?

DANCE | THREADS – Loïc Faquet

THREADS explores human connections through intense and sensitive movement. Between fusion and rupture, eight young dancers from the CND evolve within a fragile balance where every gesture can tip everything over. When the threads that bind us become a threat...

DANCE | New creation – Anne-Mareike Hess

In this new work for the Junior Company, the choreographer explores presence, visibility, and the art of making an entrance. Inspired by her ongoing reflection on the body as a mirror of society, the piece reveals the codes that shape our movements, our appearance, and the way we are perceived.

On stage, the two professional dancers are joined by two participants aged 55 and over p. 26 offering a human and intergenerational dimension. Deeply poetic and accessible, The Days reminds us that contemporary dance belongs to everyone, at every age.

TALK | The Field of Possibilities

Perspectives on Disability and Artistic Creation

During this discussion, the floor will be given to professional artists from various disciplines (dance, theatre, etc.) with disabilities who have built national and international careers in their fields. Their testimonies will shed light on the richness and diversity of possible paths, while helping to deconstruct certain preconceived ideas.

DANCE | Préludes Émergences

Before discovering on the 17th and the 18th of April p. 16 the premieres of the pieces by emerging Luxembourgish choreographers Serge Daniel Kaboré and Djamila Polo, let yourself be surprised with a short preview: a few minutes from each of their works!

Florescence in Decay, Elisabeth Schilling © Bohumil Kostohryz

DANCE | Alazar – Welcoming the “other” – Jill Crovisier

Alazar – Welcoming the “other” is a performance about the unpredictable encounter of several beings. Through movement and everyday memories, the performers explore what it means to welcome the other — and oneself. A sensitive and deeply human performance.

DANCE | Florescence in Decay - Elisabeth Schilling

Inspired by organic and mineral forms, this choreographic piece weaves a dialogue between dance and contemporary music. The dancing bodies create and undo bonds, exploring impermanence, fleeting alliances, and the fragile poetry of existence. p. 39

EXHIBITION | Shadows’ Light – Jonathan Couvant

Shadows’ Light explores the silent dance between light and shadow. Moving bodies sculpt a suspended universe, where every gleam reveals a fragment of soul and every shadow a depth. An invitation to contemplate duality, at the crossroads of the visible and the invisible.

Launched by TROIS C-L in 2015, Les Émergences is a programme supporting contemporary choreographic creation. Its aim is to highlight emerging choreographic voices within Luxembourg's artistic landscape while building bridges between young creators and the general public, notably through a series of public performances.

Aile en haut à gauche (working title) – Djamila Polo

Aile en haut à gauche reinvents the figure of the angel, somewhere between grace and awkwardness. Dance and poetry bring to life hybrid beings — celestial and fragile. The costumes give rise to shifting figures, between the heavenly and the earthly. An ode to complexity, far from binary visions.

DUNIYA - Serge Daniel Kaboré

DUNIYA ("world" in Mooré, a language spoken in Burkina Faso) questions the injustice of space: why are so many people deprived of a place of their own? Drawing on his own experience and on testimonies from people of diverse backgrounds, the artist gives voice — through the body — to invisible struggles: poor housing, uprooting, instability.

DANCE | AKROAMA – Brian Ca

AKROAMA is a hybrid research project blending dance, live music, and scenography. Through this evolving performance, Brian Ca explores questions of identity construction and expresses a deep desire to celebrate otherness.

DANCE | La Soif – Pascaline Zahui

La Soif is a solo that explores the power of desire — an essential need to love, to succeed, to fully exist — but which, when pushed to the extreme, becomes a thirst for power, absoluteness, and transcendence. La Soif holds up a mirror to the audience: How do we manage our desires? How far are we willing to go to satisfy them?

DANCE | MARDOM – Sina Saberi

MARDOM is a multidisciplinary project that explores the impact of pain — both individual and collective — on the body and on society. Inspired by the poem Bani Adam by Saadi Shirazi, which compares humanity to a single body in which each human being is an interdependent limb, the piece asks: What happens when one part suffers? What, then, does the whole do?

How does a space become a story? This workshop offers an introduction to immersive performance, at the intersection of theatre, dance, and architecture.

Through guided explorations of collective creation, and in direct connection with the architecture and energy of the space, the group will experiment with spatial storytelling, audience interaction, and movement composition as tools to invent poetic and participatory worlds. Inspired by the works of Kosta Karakashyan, performed in unusual locations such as a cooking school, a hair salon, or even a beach, this workshop provides a hands-on immersion into the process of designing immersive performances, where the audience becomes an active participant in the narrative.

Anne-Mareike Hess invites participants of all ages and backgrounds to discover her artistic universe and her sensitive, embodied approach to the body. Starting from the idea that the body reflects our society, she proposes a gentle exploration of the links between movement, sensation, and emotion.

The workshop unfolds like a long guided journey. Step by step, bodies are brought into motion, seeking support through the skeleton and opening up to a fine awareness of sensations. The work draws on somatic practices, anatomy, and presence, using improvisation and imagination to engage the body as a whole — including the face. The pace of the workshop remains adaptable so everyone can take part according to their energy, desires, and curiosity.

The anchor of the body, the ink of the steps

Drawing on material from d'Infinité (2023), Yvann Alexandre offers a journey into the heart of his artistic universe. With attentive and generous pedagogy, the choreographer develops tools to encounter his singular movement language, built upon joint pathways, subtle sensations, and precise lines.

Space and autonomy are at play in a complete, alert, and technical practice, where form arises from sensation, following the thread of his creative process — conceived as an intimate calligraphy.

Deeply attached to the writing of movement and faithful to the notion of line, Yvann Alexandre has become a leading figure in abstract dance. His highly precise gestural work teems with detail and unfolds like a calligraphy of the intimate. In addition to his own creations — presented on many renowned stages and festivals in France and abroad — he is regularly invited to higher dance institutions (Paris, Lyon, Quebec) and prestigious companies (Nordwest Tanzcompagnie).

WET DREAMS

VALERIE REDING

Under a dark rain, bodies emerge from a fractured world — between steam, metallic pulses, and shifting shadows. In wet dreams, four performers explore our watery being-in-the-world: a universe of fluidity, friction, pleasure, and care. Inspired by hydrofeminism and pleasure activism, the performance examines the links between our bodies, creative rage, desire, and resistance. What if pleasure were a survival tool? What if we could imagine new ways of being together in a world fractured by racial capitalism? A call to feel, to laugh, to love, to imagine otherwise.

FLORESCENCE IN DECAY

ELISABETH SCHILLING

Florescence in Decay is a choreographic and musical work exploring the cycles of metamorphosis: blossoming, collapse, regeneration. Five performers move through these living states within a sensory landscape that blends contemporary dance and a hybrid musical composition, between baroque influences and electronic textures.

A re-creation of a piece acclaimed in 2023, this new version entirely rethinks the choreographic language in order to deepen the theme of transformation. The stage work gives form to the multiple rhythms of nature, erosion, and rebirth. Decomposition becomes a vital process — a poetic and political force. Through intense physicality and constantly shifting tableaux, Florescence in Decay offers a sensitive journey through the living, between organic imagination and contemporary tension. p. 15

CORRESPONDANCES

Alazar – Welcoming the “other” - Jill Crovisier © Véronique Colber

The Mierscher Theater presents Correspondances: four new choreographic creations made for and with the Ensemble blanContact. Three of them are supported by the TROIS C-L:

Iris - Laura Arend

With Iris, Laura Arend explores a plural femininity freed from norms. This female duo questions desire, sensuality, and the gaze placed upon bodies, in a subtle and poetic dance where each gesture becomes an intimate and assertive expression.

Alazar – Welcoming the “other” - Jill Crovisier

Alazar – Welcoming the “other” is a piece about the unpredictable encounter of several beings. Through movement and fragments of everyday memories, the performers explore what it means to welcome the other — and oneself. A sensitive and deeply human performance. p. 15

Entre deux corps - Odile Gheysens

Entre deux corps is a contemporary tango trio. Our heart is said to have its own independent nervous system, constantly magnetised by the North Pole. This dance of three suspended hearts plays with directions and magnetisms, creating a density of our invisibles.

Discover Correspondances on the 16th & 17th of May 2026 at the Mierscher Theater, then on the 12th & 13th June 2026 at the Grand Théâtre de la Ville de Luxembourg! Information and booking at mierschertheater.lu and theatres.lu

ARTISTS IN RESIDENCY

ARTISTS FROM THE GRAND DUCHY

Within this TROIS C-L programme, artists are invited to work in the Banannefabrik studios for long-term residency periods in order to develop their artistic projects. Each project has the opportunity to present a work-in-progress showing to the public. Resident artists benefit from support during their residency, particularly in the areas of technical production and communication. They are encouraged to develop outreach initiatives to build bridges between different audiences. Finally, the TROIS C-L team promotes encounters with dance professionals and networking on both local and international levels.

The following artists hold the Artist-in-Residency label at the TROIS C-L between January and May 2026:

Here are the international artists welcomed at the Bananefabrik between January and May 2026:

AU·TOUR DE ... YVANN ALEXANDRE

In 2021, the TROIS C-L launched a new type of residency programme: AU·TOUR DE... . It takes shape through conferences, masterclasses, workshops for both professionals and non-professionals, as well as work-in-progress showings and performances. Each year, an internationally renowned company is invited by the TROIS C-L to take centre stage within the AU·TOUR DE... programme.

In January 2026, it is the Yvann Alexandre Company, based in Nantes (France), that will take over the Bananefabrik for two full weeks with an intense programme! A masterclass and morning classes for professionals, a workshop for high school students, and an OPEN MOVERS workshop are all scheduled. Not to be missed: the preview performance of the piece N.éon on Saturday the 24th of January 2026 at 7 pm.

In return, Giovanni Zazzera will travel between late December 2025 and January 2026 to the Théâtre Francine Vasse in Nantes to finalise the creation of his piece (di)SPERARE. The piece will be presented at the Trajectoires Festival on 21 January 2026.

GRAND LUXE NETWORK

CATARINA BARBOSA

Catarina Barbosa © L. Junet Photographie

Initiated in 2015 and built on nine partner organisations committed to supporting the development of dance, the Grand Luxe network offers a tailor-made support circuit for emerging choreographic creators. The network functions as an artistic exchange platform for choreographers wishing to develop new projects. Each year, nine artists are selected to join the network. The TROIS C-L is a founding member of this initiative.

From 2025 onwards, choreographer Catarina Barbosa was chosen to represent Luxembourg and develop her project estranha forma — a deeply personal creation examining the still-traditional place assigned to women in contemporary society. In 2025, Catarina travelled to Brussels and Porto before presenting the premiere of her piece at the TROIS C-L last November. Her participation in the network has been renewed for the 2026–2027 edition, allowing her to continue receiving support from the partner organisations for her new project, inspired by the universe of Swan Lake, which reflects on the necessity of "killing innocence" to transform, free oneself, and grow.

Network partners: Le Grand Studio à Bruxelles, le CCN – Ballet de Lorraine à Nancy, le Ballet de l'Opéra national du Rhin – CCN de Mulhouse, POLE-SUD - CDCN de Strasbourg, le TROIS C-L | Maison pour la danse, le Théâtre de Freiburg, l'Abri à Genève, le Teatro Municipal do Porto / CAMPUS Paulo Cunha e Silva

EXPEDITION GRANT

To better support the artistic development of choreographers and dancers in Luxembourg, Kultur | lx – Arts Council Luxembourg, Les Théâtres de la Ville de Luxembourg, and the TROIS C-L | Maison pour la danse award an artistic team based in Luxembourg a two-year choreographic project development grant.

This grant supports all phases of creation: project development, production, promotion, and international networking. It includes direct financial support for production, visibility on international platforms, and research and residency opportunities provided by the partners, including at the Centre National de la Danse in Lyon and CDCN – Le Gymnase in Roubaix.

This close collaboration goes beyond simple administrative follow-up: it aims to foster genuine artistic and strategic exchange, encouraging collective momentum and long-term networking. The goal is to provide the laureate with the ability to develop a comprehensive, internationally scaled project over two years. Year one focuses on artistic research, partner identification, co-production, and administrative support. Year two centres on artistic creation and dissemination.

At the time of printing this brochure, the laureate of the Expedition Grant for 2026–2027 has not yet been selected. Visit our website to discover the chosen artist!
